In 1996, I moved from France to Poland, where, after having worked for major advertisement agencies including McCann Erickson, I opened my own company in 2005. I successfully developed my portfolio of clients including Air France, Novotel, Vattenfall, the Polish Stock Exchange, etc. In addition to my agency, I was appointed as a Communications Director in a leading real estate company in Poland. I was in charge of the development and implementation of the communication strategy, business-to-business and business to consumer, around the opening of three shopping malls in 2008.

In 2010, I decided to change my path to a more creative one. Since then, I have taken part in more than 100 exhibits, and have also worked as a designer for a luxury jewelry brand, 1480. In 2014 I moved to France, and in 2015 to the US.
